Are there different versions of the Practice Tests?

The Practice Test for each specialty has one version of the same 30 questions. In other words, if you retake the Practice Test, you will see the same questions with the exception of the Sonography Principles and Instrumentation (SPI) Practice Test.

The SPI Practice Test is unique in that it has two distinct versions that never change (SPIa and SPIb). These two versions contain completely different questions.

Advanced Item Types (AITs)

ARDMS examinations feature questions called Advanced Item Types (AIT). AIT questions assess a candidate in formats that closely relate to actual practice and, therefore, better measure practical sonography skills. These questions include the: Semi-Interactive Console (SIC) Questions for SPI and the Picture Archive and Communication Simulation (PACS) Questions for PVI and OB/GYN. Visit www.ARDMS.org/ait to view sample questions and to learn more.
